To: All Training Officers of the Agency

CIA - TODAY AND TOMORROW

The Office of Training will present a new course, "CIA - Today and Tomorrow," in Room 1A-07 Headquarters on 27, 28, and 29 March 1973.

The main objective of the course is to update the participant on recent developments and future programs in the Agency and the Intelligence Community. Although intended primarily for professional officers with 5 - 15 years experience, supervisors are free to nominate others in their components who they feel would profit from the course. The Office of Training feels this course would be particularly helpful for those who have recently returned from overseas assignments; for those who have not attended any course dealing with Agency-wide activities within the past five years; and for employees whose present or proposed duties require a broader knowledge of Agency activities.

Included in the course content will be such topics as:

1. CIA's Mission Today
2. The Intelligence Directorate in Perspective
3. Collection and Production of Scientific and Technical Intelligence
4. The Clandestine Service Abroad
5. The Support Role -- Present and Future
6. The Agency's Role in Combating the International Drug Problem

(Over, please)

This document is part of an integrated file. If separated from the file it must be subjected to individual systematic review.

ADMINISTRATIVE - INTERNAL USE ONLY

7. CIA Support of U.S. International Economic Policy
8. Current Agency Management Policies and Problems

Lectures and discussions will be conducted by Agency officials currently involved in the topics under discussion.

The maximum enrollment for the first course will be fifty (50) students. Since this is a pilot course the Office of Training, in order to obtain as representative a group of participants as possible, has established quotas as follows: O/DCI-2; DDI-11; DDP-17; DDS-14; DDS&T-6.

DATES : 27, 28, 29 March 1973 full time
